About The Company

Wildlife Systems, Inc. was founded in 1987 with a primary focus of providing a dual blend of hunting services for sportsmen seeking quality outdoor adventure, as well as providing landowners with wildlife management services, and this enterprise concept remains the same today.

WSI has worked across most regions of Texas, several other states, and multiple foreign countries, and the company's ability to provide adaptive services is one of the unique features that have allowed WSI to successfully integrate into various settings, regardless of the region or resources of interest. WSI currently operates hunting programs on approximately 700,000 acres of private land, offering hunting services for a variety of game species, and hosts hunts each year for clients from over 30 states. Wildlife consulting is provided on numerous other properties which are not enrolled under a WSI hunting program.

The growth and continued success of WSI is a direct function of a support staff who share in similar operational philosophies developed through company training protocols, striving to offer consistent quality service to our hunters and landowners. From office personnel to guides, cooks to field techs, part-time, fulltime, and seasonal, this group of 30-40 staffers represent the heartbeat of WSI. The quality of their work has been featured in many national and regional magazines, several major television networks, and have received various recognitions including being named the 2002 Dodge Outfitter of the Year, from a cast of over 400 different hunting operations in North America.

Company founder and owner, Greg Simons, is a respected wildlife biologist who has been active in his professional peer field for many years, serving as an officer in Texas Chapter of The Wildlife Society and Texas Wildlife Association. He is past Board Chair for San Angelo CVB, current board member of San Angelo COC, and has served on numerous appointed committees, including White-tailed Deer Management Committee for state of Texas, Mule Deer Task Force for state of Texas, is one of the founders of West Texas Deer Study Group, and has served in numerous other appointed positions. He has served as an expert witness in court case proceedings, and is regularly called upon as a resource specialist for various purposes. Simons has written many published articles and provides seminars around the country on various hunting, wildlife, and business related topics.

Texas Whitetails

Texas continues to be considered the premier hunting destination in the world for white-tailed deer. Home to over 4 million whitetails, the Lone Star State provides vast areas of privately owned lands, with a rich tradition in wildlife stewardship that produces large antlered bucks with high population densities.

WSI has been well-known in the whitetail hunting arena for many years, and has developed a reputation of offering a variety of deer hunting packages on many different hunting properties, some that are intensively managed high fenced properties, and others that are large extensively managed low fenced properties. Some deer hunts are packaged where we are trying to find the biggest deer we can for our client, but we also offer management type hunts for hunters who would like to restrict their costs, while still having a great outdoor experience.

We are one of the most diverse whitetail outfitters in the business, and can generally offer an option that suits most any whitetail hunting need for individuals or corporate groups.

Emphasis is placed on hunting from box blinds, but on some hunts we do mix it up somewhat with antler rattling, spot and stalk, and cruising in a vehicle. Some hunts are guided 2x1, while other hunts are guided 1x1. Each hunting package generally includes meals, lodging, as well as skinning, caping, and quartering of carcass. Airport shuttle may be provided on certain hunts for an additional fee. These hunts typically take place in October, November, December, and early January.

Licenses are guaranteed and non-resident deer license are $315, unless you're 16 years of age or less, which is reduced to $7. Hunter education certification is required for anyone that is born on or after September 2, 1971. However, if you are less than 17 years of age and hunting with an adult, you are exempt from hunter ed requirement.

Harvest success on our whitetail hunts generally approaches 100%, and our clients typically see 10-25 bucks per day, depending upon property and circumstances. Quality varies somewhat between ranches, but we do occasionally take some giant deer on our least expensive low fenced properties.

For complete details regarding our whitetail hunting options, along with hundreds of harvest photos, check out our website at www.wildlifesystems.com. Go to "Hunts" and then click on "Whitetails."

Don't forget to watch our WSI Real Hunts with Real Hunters video series located on the Video Page of our website.

Desert Mule Deer

Texas has been quietly emerging as a bona fide destination for quality mule deer hunting. Considered desert mule deer (Odocoileus hemionus crooki), these majestic game species are recognized by SCI under their own category for mule deer. Texas' large blocks of private land, combined with progressive stewardship practices, is a recipe for quality mule deer management which has been paying off in recent years with more and more great mulies being taken on an annual basis.

These hunts take place in the big unspoiled area of West Texas. This region is one of these most pristine hunting destinations in the lower 48, and this big country atmosphere adds to the recreational pleasure of the hunting experience. Hunting strategy is generally spot and stalk, and cruising extensive ranch roads using quality optics to scan the vast terrain.

Most of our mule deer hunts are 4 days in duration, and packages provide hunters with an option of a 2x1 or 1x1 guide. Meals, lodging on ranch, and game care is included. Airport shuttle is not provided, so hunters who are flying will need to rent a vehicle.

Hunting licenses are guaranteed with non-resident fees running $315. Hunts typically take place in November and December.

For complete details on our mule deer hunts, and to view our extensive library of harvest photos, go to www.wildlifesystems.com. Click on "Hunts" and then "Mule Deer," or click on our Photo Gallery.

1987 - 2017

Pronghorn Antelope

Known as speed goats of the prairie, pronghorn antelope are symbolic of the American West. Almost extirpated by the turn of the 19th century, these unique game animals provide great sport. No trophy room is complete without a pronghorn.

No trophy room is complete without a pronghorn.

This is a fun and relaxed hunt where we can hunt hunters of most any physical ability. With pronghorns being a diurnal animal, primarily active during daytime hours, there is no need to be in the field before daylight, and we can leisurely hunt through the course of the day, seeing plenty of animals in each outing. This is a great choice for a son/daughter, as well as a relaxed business outing for clients.

Our hunts are conducted in New Mexico, considered one of the top states for high numbers of pronghorns and quality horn characteristics. Hunting in the northern portion of the state, this area is a stone's throw from the beautiful mountain range of the Sangre de Christos. So, hunters should build in a few extra days to do some sight-seeing. We put our hunters up in a motel in Clayton, and reserve a private facility near the motel where our chef prepares our daily meals. These are 2.5 day, 3 night programs including 2x1 guide, meals, lodging (double occupancy), and game care. Hunts take place in late August with comfortable temperatures being warm during mid-day and cool at night. Hunters should schedule their commercial flights into Amarillo, Texas where they can rent a vehicle and make the two hour drive to Clayton, NM.

Hunting license is $359, and guaranteed with a landowner's voucher, which we provide as part of your package. Simply send us your license fees and information, and we'll have your license waiting for you upon your arrival.

Spring Turkey Hunting

There's nothing quite like the thundering sounds of spring, when love-sick toms are gobbling on a fresh spring morning, advertising their presence for a willing hen. The interaction between a turkey hunter and their quarry can only truly be appreciated when you've been there and done that. Add to the mix, pleasant weather conditions, and beautiful countryside in bloom with wildflowers if the rains have come, and you have a recipe for an outdoor experience that is second to none.

Home to more turkeys than any other state, our Rio Grande turkey hunts take place on several different large properties, where we moderate our hunting pressure to help ensure fresh hunting areas and good carryover of birds from one year to the next. Our hunters can typically expect to work numerous birds on a daily basis, and our success rates approach 100% every year. We hunt properties in the earlier South Zone, as well as the Northern Zone, which begins the Saturday closest to April 1. We generally have access to over 100,000 acres of turkey country, between the various places that we hunt.

Most of our turkey packages are either 2.5 or 3 day packages, with 3 nights in camp. We generally book these as a 2x1 guided hunt, but our clients can do their own calling if they would like. Most packages include meals, lodging on the ranch, and game care. Lodging varies from 5-star to basic ranch type cabins. Most of our turkey hunts are 1 bird packages, with an option for a second bird for an additional fee. Group sizes typically vary from 2-8 hunters per camp. Some hunts include airport shuttle for an additional fee. We do offer a limited number of unassisted hunts where no meals or guiding is provided. Please call us about details and availability on any of these hunts.

Hunting licenses are guaranteed and non-resident spring turkey license are $126. Send us your license fee and information and we'll have your license waiting for you're when you arrive in camp.

Free-Range Aoudad Sheep

Native to the Barbary Coast of Northern Africa, aoudad sheep, or what some people refer to as Barbary sheep, were originally released into the wilds of Texas in 1957, near the town of Claude. Subsequent releases took place in that general area, as well as the mountainous areas of West Texas. Biologists who hypothesized that these exotic ungulates would do well in the Texas environ were correct, and today there are thousands of aoudads that freely roam various areas of Texas.

These are unique bovids in that they have anatomical traits that are consistent with both sheep, as well as goats. They are aptly suited for hot, arid climates, and their preference is to localize in areas that are rocky and rugged. Their wary behavior, combined with keen eyesight, as well as their hardy and strong stature, makes these animals one of North America's most over-looked species for hunting. A free-ranging aoudad hunt in big country is one of the best values in sheep hunting that is to be found anywhere on the planet.

Our hunts take place on multiple large private properties in the Alpine and Marathon area of the Trans-Pecos. Totaling almost 400,000 acres of raw terrain, these unique hunts are packaged as 3.5 day, 4 night packages including meals, lodging, and an option of either a 1x1 or 2x1 guide, priced accordingly. Facilities are in modest ranch style cabins, or hunters may wish to stay in town and we'll reconfigure the arrangement to suit this adjustment.

A free-ranging aoudad hunt in big country is one of the best values in sheep hunting that is to be found anywhere on the planet.

This is not a hunt for the meek and mild, and hunters are well served to be in decent physical shape to maximize their chances of getting on a big mature ram. Most of the sheep that we harvest are in the 29"-31" range, typically aging at 8-12 years of age, and we do take some crusher sheep each year taping over 32." This is not a fish shoot, and hunters should be prepared for a focused hunt, where we must sometimes comb through miles of terrain trying to locate a shooter ram, and once such a prospect is located, it's then "game on."

Most of these hunts take place in September, October, and January through April, but we can schedule hunts at other times, as our exotics in Texas can be hunted year-around. License is guaranteed and is only $48. Hunters should fly into Midland, where they can rent a vehicle and make the 2.5-3 hour drive to our hunting area.

Fair-Chase Nilgai

Originally released into the wilds of Texas in the 1930s, nilgai antelope, which are native to India, have thrived in certain areas of lower South Texas. These big beasts are the second largest member of the antelope family, and perhaps the most difficult to anchor of any animals hunted in North America. When you combine their skittish behavior with their brawny strength, you have the makings of a truly sporty exotic game animal that can be hunted for a reasonable price.

Our nilgai hunts take place on the historic H. Yturria Ranches, where they number in the thousands. These packages are set up as 2.5 day, 3 night arrangements which include 2x1 guide, traditional Tex/Mex cuisine, and lodging in a safari style camp. Truly a neat experience from a unique camp, rich in South Texas history.

Hunting is primarily spot and stalk, cruising safari style, and setting up over water holes. We can accommodate most physical abilities, but for those who enjoy a taxing stalk through the South Texas brush, then those possibilities are looming as well.

Hunters should fly into Harlingen, where we can provide airport shuttle for an additional fee. We will quarter the carcass in camp and cape the head for the taxidermist. Nilgai are excellent table fare, and for a fee, we can transport the carcass to a meat processor in Kingsville where you can make arrangements to have the animal fully processed. Non-resident hunting license are $48. Hunts primarily take place in September-April. You may want to consider combining such a hunt with whitetails or turkey during the spring, or perhaps another exotic game species.

"The only thing better than hunting whitetails in Texas is hunting whitetails in Texas with Wildlife Systems!"

Jim Hammond - WSI Client

Other Exotics

One of the unique things about Texas is there is always something that can be hunted any time of the year. And with no closed season, exotic game species are a good choice to fill in the void areas of your hunting calendar.

We have a wide variety of exotic species to hunt, most of which takes place on high fenced game preserves. There are several exotic game ranches scattered around the state that we hunt, so please inquire about options and details. Lodging can vary from 5-star facilities to basic ranch cabins, and our group size capacity can vary from 1-10.

We have many different species to consider, most from European, African, and Asian origins. Some of these species include axis deer, fallow deer, red deer, blackbuck antelope, nilgai antelope, blesbok, scimitar-horned oryx, sable, kudu, wildebeest, lechwe, zebra, biesia oryx, gemsbok, eland, waterbuck, springbok, addax, red sheep, aoudad sheep, mouflon sheep, and others.

Most of these packages are set up where we charge a daily fee that includes guide, meals, and lodging, plus a trophy fee based upon which species is taken. We have a two day minimum, based on the number of nights that you are in camp, and should you be interested in multiple species, we suggest a 3-day program. Non-resident licenses are guaranteed and are only $48.

One of the unique things about Texas is there is always something that can be hunted any time of the year.

Dear Outdoor Enthusiast,

Thank you for taking the time to peruse this WSI brochure. Since 1987, we have worked hard at developing our business based on honest, hard work. We have tried to learn from our mistakes, while building upon our successes, and today, we are proud to work with some fine hunting and wildlife properties, offering a variety of outdoor adventures to our valued clients. Having been fortunate to hunt around the world myself, on my hard earned dollars, I appreciate the reality that a quality hunting experience goes well beyond having access to quality game lands, and my pledge to our clients is to make sure that our camps are operated with customer service being at the front of our operational plan. Our clients' expectations of a rewarding and pleasant hunting experience is a vision we share, and though it may be unrealistic for all things to come together 100% of the time in a fashion that we all desire, our WSI staff stands ready to serve your needs to the best of our ability. We are truly humbled that hunters and landowners have been placing their trust in our services for over 30 years, and I personally look forward to developing these and new relationships as we move forward.

Cheers,

Greg Simons (Wildlife Biologist)
WSI Proprietor
